LAW.

OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR.

Law Cases in District 1—

On July 9, 1912, George Robinsor. was indicted in the district court of the United States for the district of Minnesota for willful injury to a Government telephone line. He entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment. The judge administered a severe reprimand and stated he would have imposed a sentence of six months if the defendant had not already spent approximately that length of time in jail awaiting trial.

On September 5, 1912, in the cases of the United States v. Wm. D. Nelson, Arthur J. Kulp, and John E. Cleary, the United States district court for the district of Idaho overruled defendants' demurrers to indictments for perjury. The indictments charged that the defendants had applied to enter certain lands upon the Coeur d'Alene Forest and had filed with their applications affidavits containing false and fraudulent statements with regard to settlement and residence. The indictments each contained two counts, one charging an offense under section 5 of the act of March 3, 1857 (11 Stat., 250), and the other perjury under the Penal Code of March 4, 1909. The court held that the act of 1857 had been repealed by the revision of the United States statutes in 1873, but that the indictments were good under section 125 of the Penal Code.

Law Cases in District 3—

Suit for timber trespass on the Alamo National Forest was brought against J. H. McRae and R. A. Barrett to recover $1,200, the value of the timber on a willful basis; and for timber trespass on the Florida

National Forest against D. P. McKenzie and the Consolidated Land & Lumber Co., to recover $600, the value of the timber on a willful basis.

OPERATION.

Photoprint Album of Forest Activities—

An album of photoprints illustrating the various activities of the Forest Service has been sent to each forest supervisor from the Office of Geography. The preparation of these albums has required two years, since the work was done only at such times when it would not interfere with other official work. If for any reason a supervisor or district office has not received a copy of this album, the Forester should be notified immediately.

LANDS.

Settlement: Relative to Listing Areas in Excess of 160 Acres—

It has come to the attention of the Forester that there has been a variance in the practice among district foresters when application under the act of June 11, 1906, is made for surveyed lands including irregular lots aggregating more than 160 acres. The rule is that an area in excess of 160 acres may be allowed where the excess is less than the deficiency would be if the smallest legal subdivision were eliminated. A copy of the decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, dated February 20, 1909, holding that this rule applied to entries under the act of June 11, 1906, except in cases where the entries are made by metes and bounds, was inclosed with settlement circular letter to district foresters of July 29, 1912.

Settlement: Notice to Applicants Relative to Review or Reexamination—

An extract from the Manual has been printed, copies of which may be secured from the property clerk, relative to the procedure in case an applicant desires a review of the district forester's decision in rejecting his application under the act of June 11, 1906. This sheet should accompany letters of rejection to applicants and be sent to those making inquiry concerning the procedure in this respect. (See Settlement circular letter of Aug. 9, 1912.)

Settlement: Accumulation of Listing Letters—

[Circular letter of Aug. 28, 1912.]

The practice seems to prevail in some districts of holding back listing letters until a number of cases have accumulated before forwarding them to this office. This results not only in delaying the applicants' entry of the land but causes congestion of work in the Washington office and the General Land Office. These letters should be prepared and the cases promptly forwarded as soon as complete report is received and the area to be recommended for listing has been determined.

Settlement: Reports on Form 110—

[Circular letter of Aug. 30, 1912.]

Hereafter when reports on the old Form 110 are forwarded please see that all the information required by the present form is included. When the old outline is used it frequently happens that important questions, such as whether or not an exception for a roadway is necessary, are not answered. This necessitates further correspondence and greatly retards final action.

Settlement: Separate Letters Transmitting Telephone Right-of-Way Tracings and Field Notes—

[Circular letter of Sept. 7, 1912.]

Hereafter when it is necessary to reserve a right of way for a telephone line over a tract listed under the act of June 11, 1906, please prepare a separate letter addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, transmitting the tracings and field notes describing the right of way instead of inclosing them with the listing letter. Reference, however, should be made in each letter to the other.

The General Land Office has informally requested that this be done since the opening to entry of the lists is handled by one division and the notation of the rights of way by another division. Separate letters will, therefore, be a great convenience to them in the handling of these cases.

Settlement: Blue Prints to Accompany Listing Letters—

[Circular letter of Sept. 17, 1912.]

Whenever a tract of land is listed by metes and bounds and a strip is excepted from the listing, the courses and distances of said strip should be shown on the same blue print as the area to be listed. Several of the districts have been making separate blue prints showing the excepted strip and sending for transmission to the Interior Department four blue prints. This seems to be unnecessary, since one map will serve the purpose of showing the boundary of the listed tract as well as the roadway exception, and two blue prints thereof will be sufficient for the Interior Department.

Settlement: Manual Amendment, Free-Use Permits to Applicants—

An amendment to page 41 of the Manual has been prepared and is pending the approval of the Solicitor, providing for the issuance of special-use permits to applicants under the act of June 11, 1906, effective until the lands are opened to entry. Heretofore such permits terminated upon the listing of the lands with the Secretary of the Interior. This amendment is made in view of the provision in the current appropriation act that "no lands listed under the act of June 11, 1906, shall pass from the forest until patent issues."

Settlement: Mineral Examinations of Tracts Applied for—

In the case—L, Wenatchee, Settlement, Monahan H. 98—the Acting Forester on September 17, 1912, referred to the paragraph on page 38 of the Claims Manual under the caption "Applications in conflict with mineral locations," and also to the paragraph on page 46 of that Manual under the caption "Applications in conflict with mineral locations," and held that the paragraph on page 38 is intended for the guidance of the examiner in the field, and that the paragraph on page 46 is intended for the guidance of the district forester when the report of the examiner reaches him, and that, if from that report he has any doubt as to the advisability of recommending the listing of a tract because he has reason to believe that the land may be more valuable for mining than for agriculture, it is believed that the instructions on page 46 of the Manual are broad enough to justify him in causing the tract to be examined by a mineral examiner or some other qualified forest officer, and that the amendment of the Manual to that effect is unnecessary. He also held that if after receipt of the report of the mineral examiner or otherwise the tract is recommended for listing, there would be no objection to the district forester notifying the mineral locator of that action.

Claims: Manual Amendment, Examination of June 11 Entries—

Amendment No. 136 to the Manual is now in print, and copies may be secured from the property clerk at Ogden. This amendment eliminates indorsement (c) on page 15, and also the third paragraph on page 16, thereby removing the distinction which previously existed with reference to the examination of entries under the act of June 11, 1906, and those made under the homestead laws. (Applicable only to lands listed since August 10, 1912.)

Claims: Manual Amendment 139, Final Proof Notice Indorsements—

The following amendment to the Manual has been approved and is now in the hands of the printer:

Claims.—Since it is desirable that the procedure of the Forest Service and that of the General Land Office should conform as nearly as possible to each other in the return of final proof notices, the instructions in the last paragraph of page 15 of the Claims Manual are hereby amended by substituting for indorsement (b) the following:

“(b) Please withhold final certificate; report submitted (or will be submitted) to the district forester ———, 19—;”

Also for use when a report can not be made prior to the return of the notice to the Register and Receiver and the Supervisor has not sufficient information at hand to warrant the use of indorsement (a), the following indorsement:

“(f) Please withhold final certificate until field investigation has been made and report submitted by the Forest Service. A report will be forwarded to the district forester on or about ———, 19—.”
